UNION OF "FREE GERMANS."-The N. Y.

Journal of Commerce has an excellent article upon our recent exposition of the principles of the platform established by the Free Germans of Louisville and other portions of the country. The remarks of the New York paper are well worthy of earnest consideration, and we wish and room for them all. That paper says sixty years ago, on the 20th of September, 1795, an individual, calling himself an American citizen, dared to write to the Father of his Country: "And as to you, sir, treacherous in private friendship and a hypocrite in public life, the world will be troubled to decide whether you are an apostate or an impostorwhether you have abandoned good principles or whether you ever had any." Such was the language addressed from Paris, by Thomas Paine, a foreigner by birth, to George Washington, because the latter refused to prostitute his power as President of the United States in the service of Red Republican Jacobinism. The National Convention bad not been dissolved; the 13th Vendemaire had not rendered impossible a return of the Reign of Terror; the bloody carnival which preceded the Directory still continued; Paine had been a witness of the excesses which had resulted from a system of infidelity and false freedom similar to his own: but the horrors of the revolution had failed to convince him that a people sunk from religion into infidelity becomes a nation of demons. Hence the animosity he entertained against General Washington, and his sneers at the prudence which opposed a barrier to any active demonstration of sympathy in the United States for the anarchical period which succeeded the fall of the Bourbon dynasty. Hence, too, the slighting terms with which the first and best of our Presidents has been ever spoken of by those who consider in gion to be an integral part of liberty. In the lives and writings of Thomas Paine, however, which were published up to within a very recent period, his attacks upon Washington were suppressed, and it is only of very late years that the increased numbers of the followers of the great infidel have given them boldness to condemn as "mealy-mouthed" the policy of excluding those passages which wound the feelings of veneration entertained for Washington by all true Americans. Particularly since the influx of Germans commenced, which was the consequence of the failure in Europe of the revolutionary movements of 1848, a deluge of fanatical Painites has been poured into the United States, who own no sympathy for the conservative element in our institutions, and whose natural affiliation to all the elements of radicalism in the land bodes evil to the future welfare of our Kepublic.

religion which has taken such deep root, of late overflowing with the elite of the fashionable years, in our large cities, and especially among the German population, is a greater evil than it otherwise would be, from the fact that it is partially hidden from the notice of Americans by the screen of a foreign language, behind which sufficient strength to make its influence domiit seeks concealment until it shall have gathered there, in those States which Germans have thickly settled-and in Wisconsin, Missouri, ly of the character of the informer, might prop-Ohio, and some parts of Illinois, demagogues have been already for years in the habit of gaining the votes of "Free Germans" by real or affected sympathy with their political libertinism. The riots in Cincinnati, some months ago. were a consequence of the war of anarchist savages upon our institutions, and good citizens, in many of the Northwestern States, have been compelled to unite in expressing their indignation against measures proposed, or electioneering Shibboleths introduced by naturalized citizens, which would have been deemed impossible some years ago. As early as 1848, Heine published, in Switzerland, his famous Democratic programme, in which it is declared that no true freedom can exist until Christianity has been bodily exterminated. The same feeling has been transplanted here: its expression is necessarily modified; but a large number of vile German papers, and the connivance of unprincipled office seekers, are rapidly increasing the evil. The indignation of the country would be aroused if the contents of some of the papers that are published at Cincinnati, Milwaukee, and other cities where the German population is large, were translated into English. They agree together in anti-Christian, Come-outerism, blasphemous revilings against revealed religion, and identification of compelled unbelief with liberty. Their political tendency is temmunist and radical-infidel. Thomas -a man whose name a quarter of a centu-and festivities, which have been heretofore considered in America due alone to Washington. whom he reviled. The German programmes which appear from time to time in different localities show, by their similarity, the closeness of the union of all the Red Republicans in support of one common cause, and we trust that their manifestoes will be pondered over by thinking, conservative Americans, and that an incurable evil.

The Memphis Enquirer says that all the world is asking, "Who is Minnie?" Ah, Mr. World, we will introduce her to you one of these days, and you may prepare your old heart for a sensation:

[For the Louisville Bulletin.] GERTRUDE.

Her silken tresses were unbound, Her eyes were wildly bright, And on her pale, cold brow there gleamed A strange unearthly light; Her bloodless lips were parted wide, But not a word she spoke; Naught save her breathing quick and nard The painful silence broke!

One jeweled hand a picture held, And one her bosom prest.

As if to still the struggling heart
Within her throbbing breast; She gazed upon the sparkling eyes
With love for words too deep; A sigh escaped her quivering lips, And then I saw her weep!

Long, long she gazed upon the face Kissed it, and whispered gentle words, And fancied it could hear! She spoke of days long passed away, Bright hours when first they met And said, "I still remember, love: Oh! canst thou e'er forget?"

She murmured. "I am dving now-I feel that I must go; But oh! thou wilt not quite forget One who has loved thee so? I have no wish to linger here To be another's bride;
The heart that might not beat for thee

Thou'lt think of me when lone and still Thou'lt think of me when lone and still In my sweet grave I sleep, And sometimes when the stars keep watch Thou'lt wander there and weep! I shall be with the angels then But often I shall rove From their bright home to whisper thee Sweet words of Peace and Love!

Love like to ours, deep, pure, and true, Such love is not of earth 'Tis of a higher, holier clime!
'Tis of a heavenly birth!
And, dearest, we shall meet again,
Shall meet in Heaven to dwell, Where all is Love, and Bliss, and Peace! Farewell-I go-farewell!"

Farewell! With the deep agony That mournful word expressed
From her pale lips the life-blood gushed
And flowed across her breast.
The large drops gathered on her brow,
The death-dew cold and chill, While with a strong, unyielding grasp She clasped the picture still.

FAIRMOUNT, HARDEMAN Co., TENN., July, 1865.

NIAGARA FALLS-CATARACT HOUSE. - We learn from numerous sources that the season is culminating at Niagara with even more than usual splendor. This is as it should be. Niagara is by far too majestic and ravishing a spectacle to be eschewed by the pleasure-seeking world or any other, and we make no doubt that everybody who leaves home for the refreshing airs of the North will at least pay his humble devotions to the great cataract, if he does not linger days and weeks and months near its enchanting scenes. We are gratified to hear that the Cataract House still preserves its accustomed distinction among the hotels on the American side, and that, notwithstanding the powerful rivals it encounters upon either bank of the The Socialist, Red Republican hatred against rushing flood, it is constantly thronged and fell yesterday morning. About 1 o'clock the world.

> We regret to learn by a gentleman just from Niagara that some few days since a malicious and wholly unfounded complaint under the new .Prohibitory law was lodged against the highsouled and accomplished proprietors of the Cataract, by a person who has lately rendered himself infamous as a common informer. The mere lodgment of the information, independenterly amaze the distant friends of the Cataract and its gentlemanly proprietors, but those who know the informer will think the information the most natural and harmless thing in the world. The fellow, we are assured, is one of the vilest of an intensely vile class. If he had lived in the days of George the Third, when the most of those who know him doubtless wish he had lived, he would probably have twenty-five cents. Salt commands ten dollars a spent his life in accumulating Tyburn tickets. and ended it in stretching a Tyburn cord. Prominent among the many incidental evils of the Maine law are the facilities of life and thrift trade. She arrived yesterday, having towed the it offers to such pitiful creatures. Let the distant friends of the Cataract and its princely proprietors rest content. The honor of the one is as lofty as the fame of the other is world-

KENTUCKY ELECTIONS .- We shall not encumber our columns any longer with election returns. We shall publish the full official vote as soon as it is received. Returns from 93 counties official show the following result:

Clarke 59,807

The remaining ten counties are reported to give Clarke a majority of 3,349. The New Orleans papers of the 10th announce the death of L. C. Duncan, Esq., a prominent lawyer of that city, where he has re-

Morehead's majority 7.447

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD .- In | reply to the article of our correspondent "Observer," in yesterday's Journal, we would remark that the report of commissioners referred to was made at the instance of a stockholder's meeting and is addressed to the stockholders. Very properly, as we think, the directors have received the report and will present it to the stockholders at the annual meeting in October, the Richmond Enquirer of Monday morning: autidote will be applied to the infidelity that is and leave it to that body to publish it or not. growing up amongst us before it has become an Meanwhile we can state that the facts disclosed are unimportant, now that the company have settled upon advantageous terms with the former contractors, and the latter have abandoned the contract.

We learn that the company's affairs are now in a prosperous condition, and that the enterprise will be pushed forward promptly and energetically to completion. We expect to be fever made its ppearance there. A number of able to furnish the public with more detailed citizens collected together on Thursday night, information upon the condition of affairs at an early day.

Of the many excellent schools for girls advertised in our columns at this season, we have not yet particularly noticed the institution established in our immediate neighborhood by the Rev. George Beckett. Mr. Beckett is an accomplished scholar, and devotes himself to teaching because he loves the work, and knows that he has a special aptitude for this responsible and arduous duty. Mr. B. has been engaged for many years in a similar enterprise in Southern Kentucky, and so well established was his reputation there, that, when he removed to this county, nearly the whole body of scholars followed him and became inmates of his family. That family is made to each scholar a true Christian home, distinguished by its quietness, ease, and courtesy. The scholarship of this school is of the highest and most substantial kind. The buildings have been greatly enlarged during the past year, and still further improvements are anticipated. The institution is beautifully situated, five miles from the city, on the Shelbyville turnpike road.

A heavy robbery was perpetrated at Cape May on the 11th inst. The room of Mr. Cody, at the United States Hotel was entered dnring his absence, and his trunks plundered of much valuable property. Among the articles stolen were a diamond breast pin, velued at $300, a diamond bracelet, two checks for $3,000 each on the Bank of America, New York, drawn to the order of Mr. Cody, and $200 in fifties of the Bank of America, New York. The robbers have not yet been arrested. We hope this is not our fellow citizen of that name.

We saw a disgusting scene at the jail last evening. Officers Kirkpatrick, Weatherford, and Phelps found a woman, with an infant, lying drunk on Market street and using blasphemous language, and brought her to jail. Phelps carried the babe and Kirkpatrick and Weatherford the woman. This was the only arrest made vesterday.

The editor of the Cincinnati Commercial thinks that the affidavits published here are entitled to no respect. He thinks of other people's oaths exactly as they think of his.

There has not been a boat navigating the Wabash for the past month although there has been plenty of water.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The river was about at a stand last evening with 6 feet 7 inches water in the canal and 4 feet 8 inches on the falls. Another shower thermometer stood at 88 in the shade. The Mississippi at St. Louis as well as its tributaries are falling. Four feet water in the Missouri, 41 feet in the Illinois, and the upper Mississippi was lower than it had been at any previous time this season. The Cumberland was falling at Nashville, but rising above that point. The Nashville Whig, of Wednesday, says:

There are full six feet water on Harpeth shoals-enough for all the boats, but unfortunately there is nothing for them to do.

A letter from Washington, Ark., says that Red river is three feet lower than it was ever known to be, and that it can be forded at almost any point. The merchants in that part of Arkansas are hauling their goods from Alexandria and Gaines's landing. They pay three or four dollars a hundred; and flour is selling at four and five cents-beef six and seven-and bacon

The Southerner, Capt. Catterlin, is the St. Louis packet, and there is not a better boat in the Fashion from Mt. Vernon to Portland. We thank her clerk for favors.

We are indebted to the officers of the Tishomingo for favors. The T. leaves for Memphis to-morrow evening.

The Sultana is also due from New Orleans today, and leaves to-morrow evening.

The splendid packet Rainbow leaves for Henderson this evening.

The steamer R. L. Cobb arrived at Nashville on Tuesday.

ARKANSAS .- A letter to the editor from Camden, Ark., dated July, 27, gives a gloomy pic ture of the rivers in that region. The write says: "I have lived here ten years and I have never seen any thing like it There are men living here worth $50,000, out of whom you cannot get one cent! Ask a man for money and he points you to his cotton piled up among others mountain high on the bank of the river ry ago was considered synonymous with deadly sin against the bounteous Creator of the Universe—is their Apostle, and his birth-day is celebrated with military displays, illuminations, prominent lawyer of that city, where he has resided since 1812. He was a native of Kentucky. He was a native of Kentucky. Capt. Megowan was qualified as Sheriff refreshing rains every day, and farmers are again in good spirits."

Richard P. Robinson, the supposed murderer of Helen Jewett, died at the Galt House, Louis-ville, Ky., on the 8th inst. For several years past he was known as Richard Parmelly.

We see this paragraph going the rounds of the Eastern papers. There is no truth in it.

THE YELLOW FEVER IN NORFOLK AND PORTSMOUTH .- We copy the following from

The Curtis Peck brought up a large number of passengers last Friday evening from Norfolk, Portsmouth, Old Point, Hampton, &c. The passengers were permitted to land, while the boat, we learn, went into quarantine, and will discontinue her trips until further notice. By discontinue her trips until further notice. By an advertisement in another column, it will be seen that the Augusta has also been taken off the route. So direct communication with Norfolk is suspended. It is estimated that at least 3,000 persons have left Norfolk alone since the and set fire to "Barry's Row," in Norfolk, in which the fever first made its appearance, and burnt it to the ground. The fever was represented as still on the increase—one physician, it is said having 20 pays care.

it is said, having 20 new cases.

The fever had broken out just back of Hampton in a family recently from the infected region. Indeed, from the reports which have reached us, we should not be surprised if the fever should prevail to a great r or less extent in all the low country, where most of the families that have left the infected cities are temporarily sojourning. Nearly every one who is able is represented as flying from the infected places, and, as both the river boats between Norfolk and Richmond have now stopped running, and the telegraph office is closed, it may be several days before we can receive additional intelligence from the deeply-stricken cities. In the mean time, let us do all we can for those whom necessity compels to remain at home by swelling the subscriptions already started for their relief.

The fever continues to rage in Portsmouth. The board of health reports seven new cases and two deaths in Norfolk on Thursday, and four cases and one death in the hospital.

THE THIRD ANNUAL MEETING OF THE GRAND UNION ASSOCIATION OF STEAMBOAT AND STEAMSHIP ENGINEERS.

The third annual convention of the Grand Union Association of Southern and Western Steamboat and Steamship Engineers commenced its session in this city yesterday. The meetings are held in the hall of the Cincinnati Union Association, on Front, near Main street.

The convention was organized by its proper officers-President, John Hall, of St. Louis; Vice President, Micajah Toole, of Cincinnati; and Grand Secretary, H. H. Harrison, of Nashville, Tenn.; and called to order, when the Grand Secretary reported the following delegates present from the Subordinate Associations, with their proper credentials:

Cincinnati—Micajah Toole and Daniel L.

St. Louis-John Hall and Albert Stevenson. Louisville-John Gault and Richard Goss. New Albany-Theodore Elliott and Augustus Jennings

New Orleans-Geo. N. Casey and Nelson Vanderenter. Mobile-A. M. Patterson and John H. Smith.

Nashville-H. H. Harrison.

Pittsburg and Wheeling-Delegates not yet arrived. The subordinate associations to this conven tion comprise the following number of members, as reported:

Pittsburgh, 99; Wheeling, 24; Cincinnati, 136; Louisville, 104; New Albany, 55; Nashville, 40; St. Louis, 248; Louisiana, 195; Mobile, 67—

total, 968. The committee to nominate permanent officers of the Association for the ensuing year not being ready to report, they were granted further time-until to-day-to make their report.

A number of other committees were appointed, when, upon motion, the convention adjourned until this morning.

The objects of this Association are set forth in their preamble, which is as follows:

Whereas, we de m it highly important, in order to maintain the position we have assumed, that this Association, composed of tives from the different ports on the Western and Southern waters, organize ourselves into an Association, to be styled the Union Association of Western and Southern Engineers, that each Association represented in the Grand Union Asso-ciation shall be allowed to have its own peculiar and distinctive features (provided they accordance with the constitution of the Grand Union Association), as the different localities may require, and that the Grand Union Association meet once a year, or whenever the local Associations may deem it necessary, at such time and place as shall be agreed upon, for the purpo e of discussing such matters and deciding upon such measures as may be deemed of importance to the Western and Southern Engineers, in each port to be represented by Engineers, who shall be duly elected by their respective Associations. According to the purpose of the Association, to unite and promote our interest, to elevate our character spectability in every capacity, mental, moral, boat engineering a systematic and responsible occupation; exclusive, different, and independent from any other, and which can only be acquired by theoretical and practical experience.

Great Suit .- The Commercial Bank of Man chester at Yazoo City, Mississippi, on yester-day, through its counsel, L. Madison Day and Smiley & Perrin, filed a bill on the Equity side of the Circuit Court of the United States, in this city, against Henry S. Buckner, to have his discharge in Bankruptey declared void, and to ecover about $120,000, principal and interest. The suit is one of great importance, and if sustained may lead to important results, as the principles settled in the same would be applicable to other similar cases.

FRIDAY EVENING, AUG. 17, 1855.

Gov. REEDER .- As this gentleman has met with such ill treatment from the slaveholding fillibusters of Missouri and the President with his Southern allies, it is right that the Pennsylvania people should show their approbation of his course by electing him to some office in the gift of the people. The probability is that he has become fully acquainted with the corruption of those in power, and is satisfied that to propagate and perpetuate slavery is the great object of the present administration, and that he would pledge himself to represent the peo-ple of this State in all honesty against the slavery propagandists .- Pittsburg Chronicle.

If there is any one thing, that, more than another, distinctly marks the decadence of political morality among the people and a decline of the conservative spirit so essential to the management of a popular government and to the preservation of our free institutions, it is the low grade of character and the radicalism of the appointees to public office. A reputation of a public man for prudence, discretion, regard for well-established "truths, and an attachment to usages sanctioned by long and successful experience, seems now to be considered as entitling its possesser to the contemptuous appellation of an "old fogy." On the other hand, a man who derides the logic of history, spurns the teachings of philosophy, and laughs at the practical lessons of experience, is hailed as the man of the times, indicated as the true exponent of popular sentiment, and is apt to be elevated to office as one eminently qualified to govern his fellow men. The more radical the man, the greater his merit; and if, in the course of his career, one of these rampant reformers happens to commit acts of folly for which he is rebuked either by the people or the Executive of the country, forthwith the opposite party elevate him to the dignity of a martyr and affect to atone for the mortification by rewarding him with an office. We have been led to these reflections by the course of the Freesoil press in reference to the late Governor of Kansas. Reeder went to Kansas to make money for himself and make Kansas a free State for the North; the two ideas were strictly harmonious. He could make money more rapidly by having it free territory. The Governor was to fix the seat of government of the Territory. With a keen scent to profit, the sharp land-jobber first bought up property in or around Pawnee and then established it as the place where the Legislature should meet-a place where there were neither public nor private buildings to accommodate the people that would collect there. While Kansas was convuised and on the verge of civil war, this newly-created chief magistrate was scampering over the Territory to ascertain where he could purchase the most eligible lands and town-sites. The removal of Reeder was a righteous rebuke, administered, however, with so little dignity and grace as to take from it all effect as an example. And, although the speculations of Reeder afforded just and proper grounds for his dismissal, yet, in consequence of the failure to remove him at the time when those speculations were first detected, no one will now give the President credit for sincerity as to the motive of the removal. Since that event, the Freesoil papers have been actively engaged in writing Reeder into a reputation as a very great and much-injured mana poor martyr who has suffered for the cause, and who ought promptly to be enrolled as one of the saints in fredom's calender. There seems great unanimity among these papers on the subject of Reeder's injured innocence, and they are equally unanimous that his wounded feelings should be soothed by some good fat office; yet they are not agreed as to Chronicle, in the extract at the head of this arin the gift of the people; but the Allentown Democrat, published in Pennsylvania, actually nominates him for Governor of that State; thus, we suppose, indicating that a man unfit to govern the Territory of Kansas may be a very proper man to govern Pennsylvania. The logic may perhaps be correct; at least Pennsylvanians ought to know if it is so. We are prepared to the ill-fated victim a subject .-- Cin. Enquirer. give credit to the probability of his election, if the interest at present attaching to his fame as a martyr does not wear out before the autumn of 1856, when the election is to come off.

Mass of Copper.-The Lake Superior Journal speaks of a mass of copper in the Cliff Mine calculated to contain five hundred tons. Two hundred tons have already been taken off the mass. There is also, in addition to this, about five hundred tons of other masses in sight in the same mine. The company are about sinking a shaft on another vein which has been discov-ered, said to be richer than the one they are now and esteemed by the community as a printer working. The Journal thinks that the stock of the Cliff Mine will go up to three hundred dollars per share, and that but few will be disposed the difficulty are unknown to us. A quarrel of to sell at that rate. It will be remembered that only eighteen dollars a share has been paid in on this stock.

OFFICIAL MAJORITIES .- For Col. Marshall in this district 2,555, that of Dr. Marshall in the Eight district 1,491, Swope's majority in the of them; and the other seven are the sons or Tenth district 499, and Jewett's majority in the the grandsons of the Princess Lucien, whose Tenth district 499, and Jewett's majority in the Fifth district 448.

Talbott's majority in the Fourth district (Clinton and Wayne counties reported) is 19, and Coxe's majority in the Ninth district (Powell county reported) 1,491.

ARREST OF COUNTERFEITERS .- A gang of thirteen persons was arrested at New York on Tuesday, charged with uttering about $5,000 of a well-executed counterfeit on the Ocean Bank of New York. The prisoners, who are well known to the police, were taken before Justice Pearcey at Jefferson Market, and committed for examination.

Our returns indicate that Mr. Morehead's majority will be under 5,000.

The St. Louis Democrat, of Wednesday,

After 6 o'clock on Monday evening, the river at this point commenced rising, and continued on the increase all day yesterday. At 6 o'clock P. M. it had risen some three or four feet. Throughout the day a continual stream of driftwood poured past the city. The Osage is pouring out a bigger stream than it has done at any provious the contract of t ing out a bigger stream than it has done at any previous time this year. The Kansas and other tributaries of the Missouri are said to have risen considerably. Boats from the Missouri report that stream rising steadily at the lower end. Large quantities of rain have lately fallen all along the Missouri and its tributaries. Illinois river on a stand. Upper Mississippi nothing new from it.

esponsibility of railroads has just been tried in the Clark circuit court, Judge Bicknell presiding. Early in November last, Gordon & Love ding. Early in November last, Gordon & Love informed the officers of the Jeffersonville Railroad Company that they intended purchasing hogs in Boone county, provided the railroad would agree to carry them from Thorntown on the Lafayette railroad to Jeffersonville. They agreed to furnish the necessary cars at Thorntown on the 7th of December. Relying upon this agreement Gordon & Love collected and this agreement, Gordon & Love collected and penned at Thorntown, in December, 1,849 hogs, weighing 232,000 lbs., and which had been bought deliverable by the farmers between the 1st and 20th December.

The railroad failed to furnish cars until seventeen days after the stipulated period. It was alleged that, during the detention, the hogs had fallen off nearly 23,000 lbs. in weight; that the price had fallen; that the cost of feed had amounted to a large sum; and that 26 of the fattest of the hogs had died; by all of which Gordon & Love had been damnified in a considera-

The Railroad plead the general issue, and endeavored to show that no officer of the company could have entered into such a contract, as the power of the company closed at Edinburg, the terminus of its road, or at Indianapolis, in consequence of a lease from the Madison rail-road. It was proved, however, that cars were furnished by defendant at any point on any of the railroads connecting at Indianapolis. It was attempted to be shown that a notice, dated November 13, declaring that the company would not be bound to furnish cars at any particular date, had been published and brought to the no-tice of Gordon & Love. In this the company failed, as, from anything that appeared, the no-tice was not in existence at the date of the contract. It was also attempted to be shown that the blame of detention was owing entirely to the officers of the Lafayette railroad.

The case was argued with great ability by Judge Otto and Jas. D. Reid of Jeffersonville for the plaintiffs, and by Randall Crawford of this city and John D. Ferguson of Charlestown for the railroad. After being out three hours, the jury returned a verdict of $1,200 for the plaintiffs. This decision is important, as establishing a principle that railroad companies are liable for damages sustained on contracts to transport goods beyond the termini of their roads .- New Albany Tribune.

HORRIBLE ATROCITY- Barbarous Decapitation of a Child-Full Particulars .- Yesterday morning while the captain of the police was yawning over the venerable Gazette, he was startled by the apparition of an excited little German, who, with eyes "in a fine frenzy rolling," dashed into the watch-house and exclaimed, in broken English, tinctured with the "sweet German accent," "Gott in himmel, you come mit me-von schild mit de long hair vas hav her cope cut off." The chief, upon hearing these words, became almost as excited as the little German; and hastily summoning two of his attendants, he bade the little man lead them to the scene of the horrid butchery.

On the way he informed them that the bloody deed was witnessed by a little girl, who, looking from a back window, saw, in the chamber of an adjacent building, a tall, fierce looking man bending over the body of a prostrate child; with one hand he grasped her long and silky hair, while in the other he flourished a huge, flashing which he finally draw agrees her these knife, which he finally drew across her throat, and then she perceived that a black plaster covered the child's face, evidently placed there by the hellish monster to prevent its outcries alarm-ing the neighborhood. The girl saw no more, but instantly rushed down stairs and gave notice of the bloody tragedy that was being enacted. Upon hearing these particulars, the officers quickened their pace, lest the assassin, having consummated his crime, should escape. Arrived what office he should have. The Pittsburg at the scene of this mysterious horror, they disticle, merely says that it ought to be some office street, and then, for the first time, a gleam of incredulity glanced across their minds, which be-came still more vivid when, after a fruitless search, they could find no trace to substantiate the bloody tale. Finally a gentle hint which they received sent them back to the station-house, laughing at their fools' errand, and cursing the meddlesome little German. The hint was, that in all probability the horrid murderer was an enterprising young medical pupil, and

> A FATAL AFFRAY .- In a difficulty between John M. Butler and Edward Marcus, brothers-in-law, on Sunday night last, both were killed. It appears that harsh feelings had been long entertained between Butler and Marcus. They met, whether premeditatedly or not, is known, in front of the real estate banking house, about 81 o'clock on Sunday night. Both were armed with pistols, and they fired upon each other almost simultaneously. When as sistance reached them, Marcus was dead and Butler in an expiring condition. Butler lived only a few moments.

This sad tragedy has thrown over our city as the publisher of the Arkansas Whig. Mr. Marcus was a merchant tailor, much es teemed and respected. The causes that led to rupted their private relations.

The male members of the Bonaparte family now living are ten in number: The Emperor. Prince Jerome, and Prince Napolaon are three death has just been announced. Her sons are four in number: Prince Charles Laurent Lucien, Prince de Canino; Prince Louis Lucien, Senator; Prince Pierre Napoleon, who was representa-tive of the people in the Constituent A sembly of 1848, and in the Legislative Assembly; and Prince Antoine, representative of the people in the Legislative Assembly. The grandsons are the sons of the Prince de Canino: one, Prince Joseph; the second Prince Lucien, who has taken orders; and the third, Prince Napoleon, who is being educated, by order of the Emperor, in a military school. The late Princess leaves, also, several daughters, one of whom is married to Count Valentini, a Roman refugee.

PRETTY GOOD FOR BARBARIANS-GENEROUS FOR A FOE .- The Russians are not such barbarians but that they can show a great deal of the amenities of civilization when a proper subject calls for it. In speaking of Lord Raglan's death, one of the Russian writers says:

Lord Raglan was, on several occasions, distinguished by the late Emperor as also by the reigning Emperor. He will be personally regretted by all who had an opportunity of knowing and appreciating the nobleness of his sentiments and the uprightness of his character. As a subject he performed his duty by obeying the command of his Sovereign, and as a soldier, by valiantly defending the honor of his flag; but even in the one new from it.

execution of his duty he preserved umblemished to death his own personal dignity and that of his country. He has failen, like so many othersponsibility of railroads has just been tried in ers, a victim to this disastrous war. > Homicide in Danville .- A letter from Danville, dated Aug. 13th, says:

Quite a sensation was produced here to-day by the death of a man by the name of Wat. Mc-Ginnis, who was shot in this place about 12 o'clock by a Mr. Robert Harbison. Harbison was sitting in the grocery store of Mr. Henderson, and McGinnis walked in. Harbison rose from his seat and shot him almost instantly. I am informed. McGinnis died in about 10 or 20 min-utes. The ball entered the left breast near the region of, if not through, the heart. Harbison is about 23 and McGinnis about 50 years of age; both citizens of this county. I understand that a quarrel has been on hand for two or three years between the parties; and the reason assigned by Harbison's friends for the shooting is that McGinnis had frequently threatened to take the life of Harbison, and sent him word that if he came to this place to-day he would kill him. These facts it is said can be established by respectable witnesses.

[From the N. O. Delta, Aug. 7.]

Unequaled Run.—The greatest feat ever achieved by any boat on the Mississippi river has just been performed by the steamer Princess, commanded by Capt. T. C. Holmes. She made the run from this city to Natchez, a distance of 300 miles, in seventeen hours and thirty minutes. The fastest trip ever before made was early in July last, when the steamer Natchez, Capt. Thos. P. Leathers, made the run in eighteen hours and fifty-three minutes.

On leaving New Orleans, a very heavy storm of rain set in and lasted over two hours, retarding very much the speed of the boat; she could easily have made from ten to twenty minutes better time but for the violence of the storm.

Below we give the exact time made by the Princess, also that made by the Natchez, last month, to the same points, by which it will be seen that the Princess gained on the time of the Natchez, steadily, from the start. All the way she averaged a mile in three and a half minutes; she was never pressed, nor carried within two and a half pounds as much steam as was allowed by the Inspector's certificate, and only averaged 135 pounds to the square inch. Her engineers state that her engines are almost perfect -the average revolutions to the minute, sixteer -never varying over half a revolution. Her wheels are forty and a half feet in diameter .-The time she made from point to point proved how steadily she ran. This trip she was nearly light, and had enough wood to carry her up.

Constitutionally Drunk .- Pat Nelligar has devoted himself lately to the mysteries connected with the Prohibitory law, and with such suc-cess that the magistrates find that he is becoming a difficult customer to manage. Pat was arrested on Saturday night for getting drunk and before Justice Parsons, vesterday morning, he admitted the "drunk," but threw himself on his constitutional rights. He took out the decision of Recorder Smith of New York, and showed to the magistrate that to "make out a case" the witnesses must show that such drunkenness was exhibited in "the public streets or lanes of the Now, as he got drunk in a blacksmith shop and remained there till he was dragged out by the police, he insisted that his inebriation was constitutional and parliamentary. The justice took a similar view of the matter and gave Nelligar his discharge.

Albany Knickerbocker.

A Good Class of Emigrants.—The emigrants arriving daily at New York, principally from Germany, are said to be of a class superior to any that have reached this country for many years, in intelligence, industry, and wealth. The New York Post of Saturday says that, since Castle Garden was opened as a depot for em-grants, 2,670 have landed there, bringing with them from abroad $228,675 83 in cash, beside various other articles of personal property. It is computed that, if the immigration during ensuing six months should equal in number the emigration during the past six months at this port, the amount of property introduced into the country from this source would be about $12,000,000.

Extensive Scizure. Yesterday, three of our ratchmen filed an affidavit before Esq. Jocelyn, declaring that they believed liquors were kept for illegal sale by J. J. Faust, on the corner of Pearl and Elm streets. A warrant was issued, and search made, when some four half barrels of beer and a barrel or two of whisky were discovered, and some eight hundred bottles of wine buried in the cellar. The liquors were stored in Sinex's building, on the corner of State and Marke streets.—N. Albany Tribune.

Lightning rods will not protect buildings at a radius of four times the height of the rod above the building; a radius of twice the height is safe. If the rod is ten feet high above the building, it will, if properly constructed, pro-tect all parts of the house at a distance of 20 feet from the rod. These facts are important to be kept in mind.

DIED.

In this city, on Monday, August 6th, WM. GRAHAM, aged 22 years.
It is writ, "In the midst of life we are in death," and painfully verified in the untimely death of Wm. Graham. This melancholy event has deprived aged and fond parents of a joy, and hope and darkened the heart of his "girl-wife" with sorrow forever more. His parents will recall with painful pleasure his love and kindness toward them. And it may bring comfort to the wife's stricken heart to know her name was murmured with his 'God's as his soul took its eternal flight.

An AUTOBIOGRAPHY.
In one duodecimo volume, neatly bound in cloth. Price $1.

THE author of this interesting American novel is among the most intellectual of livid, writers. It required the genius of the author to have grasped, with such extraordinary force, the scenes and circumstances through which her stery moves. No other writer could have thrown as strong an individual life into place and locality. Her passionate fearless nature, her wild warm heart, are transfused into the magic world she has created, with such an intense earnestness, when no one can enter without yielding to the Irresistble fascination of her powers. The book is a thrilling transcript of undoubted experience. The characters introduced into her work are fiesh and blood realities. These graphic life revelations have created a profound literary sensation not equaled by any other production since the appearance of the "Scarlet Letter" and "Jaue Eyre." and are "more talked about than any other novel of our times.

SALAD OIL-A pure article for table use for sale by R. S. RINGGOLD.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.—It is supposed by some that, as we took the premium over all others at the World's Fair, New York, on FINE HATS, we keep none but the finest quality on hand. This is a mistake. We are making a beautiful Silk Hatat $4. and also one at $3, which are just as "stylish" as the finer qualities.

THE OLD FARM HOUSE.

THE OLD FARM HOUSE.

THE name of the authoress of the above work speaks volumes in its favor, and in this she has produced the crowning effort of her pen. For freshness and vigor of thought and style and for originality—in the charming views of country life at the "Old Farm Hause"—in the striking illustrations of the follies of a fashionable city life—in her description of good and evil natures—in all the various subjects which she has touched with her magic pen, she cannot be excelled. The gentle heroine, Amy, is a model of patience and virtue, persecuted by the evil senius of h.r life, the villain Staunton.

The book will be read with a vicity, and none who com-
